2. Constitution Voting Results

The proposed new constitution for the Association of Alumni of Dartmouth College failed to achieve the level of support necessary for passage in all-media voting that ended October 31.

A total of 12,729 alumni (51 percent) rejected the proposal, while 12,041 alumni (49 percent) voted for it. None of the proposed petition amendments to the current Association constitution received more than 53 percent approval. Approval by two-thirds of alumni voting was required to pass any constitutional amendments. Accordingly, Dartmouth's current system of alumni governance remains unchanged.

Thirty-eight percent of eligible alumni (24,834) participated in the vote, a record turnout.

Voting results for the additional four petition amendments to the current constitution are:

Amendment #2: Article VI (Order of Business)

12,074 voted to accept (51%), 11,587 voted to reject (49%)

Amendment #3: Article III (Meetings)

12,338 voted to accept (52%), 11,273 voted to reject (48%)

Amendment #4: Article VII (Amendments)

11,572 voted to accept (50%), 11,719 voted to reject (50%)

Amendment #5: Article IV (Officers)

12,533 voted to accept (53%), 10,931 voted to reject (47%)

For a complete description of each amendment, please visit <http://www.voxthevote.org>.

Thank you to all the D-GALA members who participated in this important vote.

Come see the new exhibitions at Jersey City Museum, recognized by The New York Times as one of the best American contemporary art museums in the region. With every gallery and virtually every available wall space and corner transformed, tropical landscapes, ceramic brides, murky highway journeys, and utopia are all part of Jersey City Museum's exciting new season. Exhibition highlights include: "Tropicalisms," a group show on tropic themes featuring over forty artists; "Almost There," featuring four large oil paintings on Astroturf by Jane Dickson; and Jersey City Museum's "1x1 Series of Contemporary Art," featuring "Loose Threads," the sexually playful needlepoint works by Orly Cogan, and the wild ceramic brides of Rebecca Goyette.

For those wishing to arrive early on December 10 to Jersey City Museum, take in the new museum series called "Context" at 2pm. "Context" on December 10 is called "Joe Ahearn Tying The Ends Of The Earth Together," and the program will comprise several readings by writers, including Ahearn, who explore our collective need for serenity in a world compromised by techno-modernization.
