'51 2013 FALL MINI-REUNION

OCTOBER 11 - 12

Greetings to all Classmates!

This is the first FIFTY – ONE FABLES of the rest of our lives, following the retirement of legendary editor Dave Batchelder. Our quest for a successor to Dave is coming along. In the meantime, tidings of classmates have continued to filter in, so this issue has been assembled by Henry Nachman and Loye Miller.

We are interested to learn that Peter Martin, well into his fourth decade of fostering nonprofit far-flung fellowship programs from here in Hanover, has announced a most innovative new effort.

Peter writes, "I've launched a new mini-foundation, The John Hazard Institute, to train U.S. lawyers as international negotiators by sending them to law schools in 'disagreeable' countries to learn the language and get a matching law degree. My first Fellow has just returned from Iran with a two-year L.L.M. The second is about to depart for Russia."

Hearty congratulations to Alfred Moses, who, after following Dartmouth with law school at Georgetown University, now – some 60 years later -- has been presented a Doctor of Humane Letters honorary degree by Georgetown.

This caps his distinguished Washington legal career, highlighted as well by senior White House posts in the Carter and Clinton administrations, and service as U.S ambassador to Romania from 1994 to 1997.

Dr. Ed Isbey reports that he retired two years ago and so is able to take full advantage of his Asheville, NC climate. "I'm in excellent health and remain active, with a large family, loving wife, fishing, growing orchids and teaching at Asheville Veterans Hospital and Duke."

From Chicago, Chuck Nadler tells all with pride that grandson Andrew Nadler will matriculate on the Hanover Plain this coming fall....."a third generation. He's the son of Lisa Reilly Nadler '85 and our son Robert Nadler '85."

Jack Woods and Sue sold their Bernardsville, NJ "big old house" after bring there 50 years. They've moved to nearby Peapack, and a one-level home with master suites at each end, which they share with son Jay and wife Cheryl, Cheryl's father and grandchildren Lucas and Lyndsey. Sue has had a partial knee replacement while Jack suffered a torn quadriceps and heart valve replacement, but "we've survived all this and are still kicking."

After shuttling between islands over the years, Bill Monahan and Pamela have said Aloha to Hawaii. "We returned to New Zealand as permanent residents in 2011. We are still American citizens, so we have the best of both countries...we flew 13 hours from Auckland to San Francisco to attend our granddaughter Kaylie's wedding."

An Asheville, NC newspaper clipping, sent along by Parke Sickler, backgrounds the appointment of interim Dartmouth President Carol Folt to become the first female chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. When she became acting president in Hanover, she told the trustees she would not seek the job permanently because people might suspect her decisions were driven by ambition to head Dartmouth. "That's the kind of integrity of leadership we were looking for," said UNC university system president Tom Ross.

"Widowhood sucks" pronounces a green card from June Van Dan Noort of Tustin, CA, widow of Stan Van Den Noort, "but I do love and cherish the 56 years of life with Stan" beginning with life in Hanover.

'51 crew veteran Marr Mullen was in the middle of things when the Dartmouth crew came to the annual Windermere Cup race in Seattle. They lost to Washington and Cornell, he writes "but they had a good time. I went out in the launch with the Dartmouth coach for a pre-race practice session." As you read this, Marr and motorcycle will be roaring once again through the Northwest environs of the U.S. and Canada.

John Per-Lee reports his eyesight has failed badly. "We moved to a condo in Atlanta last September...across the street from the Emory campus where I spent my career. The physical strain and emotional angst took their toll, but we're OK."

Herb Shay writes "Have been retired 16 years from Syracuse school district but only a year and a half from Pinkerton Securities. Am participating in two singing groups (one including a Dartmouth mother) where I alternate between piano and voice (bass)."

Condolences are flowing to Ed Weisenfeld, whose popular wife, Betty, died unexpectedly in her sleep at their New Jersey home in mid-July. (82 Chadwick Place, Glen Rock, NJ 07452; eweisenfeld@aol.com).

Sorry to add bad news as well about Charlie Breed, who was felled by a stroke at their summer home on North Haven Island in Maine and is hospitalized in nearby Rockland, ME. Good wishes for recovery may be sent to Sarah (PO Box 235, North Haven, ME 04853; 207-867-4626).

ALL BEST TO BATCH!!!

HAIL AND FAREWELL

From the hail of Bon Voyage Green Cards for Dave Batchelder....

Charlie Russell: Oh Batch, you've wowed us for years
With newsletter tales of our peers
The Class "Fifty-One"
Owes you many a ton
For bringing us laughter and tears

Vince Albo: Thank you for all the years you put in to keep us up to date with the Class. Best Wishes!

Bob Hopkins: His canny insights, humor and dedication to our class are too great to be measured.

Peggy Read: Captain Batch and First Mate Schatzi, you shall be sorely missed. Our thoughts are with you.

Jim Culberson: I cannot thank you enough for all you did for the class for so many years. You were the glue that held us together. Also thanks to Schatzi for her special help.

Nancy Roberts: There is only one Batch. He is irreplaceable. We will miss his wit and sensitivity.

Bill Rugg: Thirty-one years! You are an institution...also a hero for sticking with a difficult and time-consuming job and doing it with flair and humor.

Justin Smith: Thank you for keeping me informed on the activities of the class.....a superlative job!

Parke Sickler: Great job over the years. Sorry to hear of your health problems.

John Per-Lee: How fortunate we have been to benefit from his tireless work on our behalf. He's a special human being and all of us, I know, are grateful to have him as a classmate and true friend.

How are you? Please jot some tidings on the enclosed Green Card and send it in.

1951 Memorial Scholarship Report

Henry Nachman, Chair

As you all know the class established a scholarship fund in its name after our 50th reunion. In the years since then the fund has grown to $218,133, a remarkable achievement. The fund currently helps support three scholars. One graduated in June (and will be replaced in the Fall), the other two are current undergraduates. We have received letters from these recipients and I am including excerpts below so you can get a feel of the quality and achievement of the current Dartmouth student.

Meaghan Deegan '14

"I am writing to thank you. I am interested in studying chemistry and biology and am working toward completing the pre-medical track at Dartmouth..."

...On campus, I spend a lot of time in labs, between my courses and my work at DHMC. For my work at DHMC I received a research grant through the Sophomore Science Scholars program and in my lab I am contributing toward Professor Mulligan-Kehoe's atherosclerosis research. In addition to my work at DHMC I volunteer through the Big Brothers Big Sister program at Dartmouth and meet with my "little sib" Taya for a few hours each week..."

Kaiqi Xie '15

"...I came to Dartmouth seeking a valuable college education that would be of use for the rest of my life. What I am getting, however, is so much more than just that. It is a proud liberal arts education that focuses as much on the breath of material taught as the depth of a subject matter..."

...On campus, I am fully embracing my role as a member of the Dartmouth community by being actively involved in student organizations. To further learn about and share my knowledge of my own cultural heritage, I am serving as an executive board member of the Dartmouth Asian Organization and their representative to the Pan-Asian Council (a council of all the Asian organizations on campus). Additionally, I am also involved in the Ivy Council, an organization comprised of members from all eight Ivy League schools that organizes events and summits for leaders from across the schools to collaborate and share ideas. I have also participated in programs such as the Dartmouth Entrepreneurial Society's Fall Business Challenge (where I came up with independent entrepreneurial ideas to solve/improve some of Hanover's problems, write up a business plan, and present before a panel of experts) and the McNutt Admissions Office's, Take Dartmouth Home Program, in which I worked with admissions to bring the joy and community of Dartmouth to my own high school and the seniors there, the next generation...

...Dartmouth is indeed now my second home, a place where I feel that I belong. It is a place of tradition, of opportunity, and of community. I am definitely blessed to call Dartmouth College my college, a privilege few in the world may proudly do so. Yet none of this would have been possible without you. So on behalf of my future, teeming with potential and hope, I thank you for this great gift of education, knowledge and compassion...."

END OF EXCERPTS

Thank you all for your help in this venture. In the future please remember the fund to memorialize classmates, relatives and friends. Feel free to contact me if you need additional info.
