

Battle of the Bulge and was awarded a Bronze Star crossing the Neckar River near Heidelberg. After graduation from Dartmouth he spent 11 years with Macy's, becoming the first American buyer to do business with Japan. He married Sue Ellen Loucks in 1949. They settled in New Jersey before moving to Connecticut, where they founded the Copper Lantern, a successful interior design business, and then Williams Documentary Fabrics. Fred was known for his dynamic use of colors in design. He is survived by Sue, his wife of 60 years, six sons, two daughters and 16 grandchildren.

1947

Louis Cohen died in Bethesda, Maryland, on January 8. He was born in New York City and grew up in Washington, D.C., where he graduated from Central High School. He joined the class in the Naval V-12 unit, graduated and attended Thayer School. In 1950 he founded Knollwood Development Corp. in Largo, Maryland, which was involved in the development of residential and industrial real estate in Maryland and Delaware. He served as chief executive officer and was active in running the company at the time of his death. He was a past president of the Homebuilders Association of Maryland and of the Maryland-National Capital Building Industry Association. Sarah, his wife of 61 years, passed away on March 12. He is survived by four children.

1948

William Clifford Ivins Jr. died in Salem, South Carolina, on May 2. He came to campus in July 1944 from Westtown School and served in the Navy before returning to graduate in 1949 with a premed major. He lettered in soccer during all his undergrad years and was a member of Phi Kappa Psi and Casque & Gauntlet. Bill moved on to Dartmouth Medical School and completed his M.D. at Harvard in 1953. He returned to campus as an intern at Mary Hitchcock Hospital before specializing in pediatrics for 37 years at North Shore Medical Group in Huntington on Long Island. He continued to do some volunteer work in the Blue Ridge foothill community where he had retired. Always an active sportsman, he remembered his seven years in Hanover very fondly. He is survived by wife Cathy and daughters Deborah, Hannah and Sarah.

Maurice Noel Levy Jr., M.D., died in Amarillo, Texas on May 1 after a long struggle with complications of diabetes. He came to Dartmouth from Cheshire Academy and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. After two years at Dartmouth Medical School he continued to Harvard, receiving his M.D. in 1949. He married Joan Saltman, a Wellesley grad, in Boston while an intern at Boston City Hospital in 1950. He served two years in the Navy before returning to complete his surgical training and setting up in practice in Bridgeport, Connecticut, in 1956. Two years later they moved to Amarillo, where he joined the staff of the Veterans Affairs hospital and entered private practice. He became interested in flying and achieved flight instructor status, later becoming a Federal Aviation Administration medical examiner. He also remained in the naval reserve until retirement as a lieutenant commander. He is survived by Joan and children Maurice III, Elizabeth and Andrew.

1949

David Stevens Gifford died May Ohio, after a nine-year struggle with cancer's disease. A native of Glens David came to Dartmouth from (York) High School. He was a WWII Army veteran and had fought in the Battle of the Bulge. A member of Zeta Psi, Glee Club and German Club, Dave earned a degree in chemistry. After receiving a Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Connecticut he was employed as a document analyst with Chemical Abstracts Service and retired after 33 years of service. He attended First Community Church and was an avid supporter of the Columbus (Ohio) Symphony and Opera Columbus. He is survived by his wife of 50 years, Dorothy Kohl Gifford; children Karin, Martha, Steven and Donna; nine grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. Dave's father, J. Erwin Gifford, was a member of the class of 1916 at Dartmouth.

N. Philip "Pete" Lord died May 19 at his home with his family at hand. He enlisted in the Army and served in the 399th Infantry, 100th Division, in the European theater. Discharged in 1945 with a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart, he came to Dartmouth, where he majored in economics and was a member of Theta Chi. Pete spent most of his career as general sales manager for the Noble and Westbrook division of the Bristol Brass Corp. in Connecticut. In 1977 he established his own company, selling machine tools and accessories around New England. He also served on the board of PAR Systems Corp. of St. Paul, Minnesota. Pete served as a volunteer fireman, on the town planning and zoning commission and town council and as mayor of Windsor. He was predeceased by his wife of 58 years, Ann, and is survived by children Ann, John '76, David, Thomas and Mary and their spouses and nine grandchildren.

1950

James Gregg died on March 25. At Dartmouth he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Dragon. A member of the varsity ice hockey team, he coached hockey at Vermont Academy after graduation and later, along with fellow teammate Hugh Brower '50, helped organize youth hockey in the Chicago area. Jim played hockey, himself, into his sixties until ailing knees forced him off the ice. He spent 15 years with U.S. Gypsum in Chicago then, at age 43, resigned and began selling life insurance. While in Chicago he married Caro, who bore him children James '83, Virginia and William. Jim numbered genealogy and stone wall building among his favorite hobbies. He retired to Scottsdale, Arizona, where he did part-time tax work for H&R Block. He and Caro spent summers in Plymouth, Massachusetts, where he owned a house dating back to circa 1720.

Kingsley Albright Jarvis died on April 10. At Dartmouth he was a member of the Forensic Union and manager of the tennis team. Following graduation he attended Harvard Law School, from which he graduated in 1953. King founded his law practice in Scranton, Pennsylvania, in 1955 following two years in the Army. In 1959 he married Maureen Connolly, who died in 1995. He is survived by Marie (Hutchman), to whom he was married in 1998. He joined a law firm in Norristown in 1960, and commissions in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. He enjoyed golf and was a life master at bridge. He is also survived by children Christopher and Diana and granddaughter Caroline.

Samuel R Roberts
6-11-09

1951

Edward Connery Lathem died May 15 at his desk in the Bryant Room in Webster Hall on Dartmouth campus, where he collapsed. Born in Littleton, New Hampshire, he was raised in Longmeadow and Springfield, Massachusetts, graduating from Springfield Technical High School. He served two years in the Army before matriculating with our class. He was a Senior Fellow and spent the next year at Columbia pursuing his master's degree in library service. He obtained his Ph.D. from Oxford in 1961 while on leave several times from Dartmouth. He became head librarian in 1968, serving 10 years before moving on to major assignments as counselor to presidents Kemeny, McLaughlin, Freedman and Wright. He was a close personal friend of Robert Frost and edited or co-edited many of the poet's volumes. Indeed, Frost was Ed's best man in 1957 when he married Dr. Elizabeth French, who died in 1992.

Samuel Ranken Roberts died on June 11 of complications from multiple myeloma at Bryn Mawr (Pennsylvania) Hospital. Born in Philadelphia and raised in Wynnewood, he graduated from the Haverford School, pledged Theta Chi and majored in English. As he later wrote, "the DOC claimed my time and soul." After graduation he married Nancy Horlacher, served three years as a Navy officer and then joined his father's brokerage firm, ultimately becoming president. After merging with Newbold he turned to asset management with the new firm before retiring in 2005. An elder in the Presbyterian Church, a board member of the Wetlands Institute in Stone Harbor, New Jersey (his vacation home), he was honored with a Spirit of '51 Award for his loyalty and service to his class, the College and his community. Surviving Sam besides Nancy are children John, Samuel, Joan, Gina and Sally and 11 grandchildren.

1952

Dwight S. Jacobsen, M.D., passed away on April 2 at home. He was born in New Haven, Connecticut, where he graduated from high school. At Dartmouth he became a premed student and was a member of Phi Kappa Psi and of the 150-pound crew. During junior year he enlisted in the Air Force, was discharged in 1955 and reentered Dartmouth, graduating in 1956. He then entered medical school at the University of Rochester, receiving his M.D. in 1960. Following a six-year postgraduate course at Rochester, he engaged in practice in Michigan and Arizona. The last 14 years were with the Cigna Health Plan of Arizona, retiring in 1999. He moved to McCall, Idaho, in 2001, where he was a member of the Community Congregational Church. His wife, Carol Jeanne, seven children, two stepchildren, 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild survive him. Herbert Randolph Nubel passed away January