David L. Stillman

David L. Stillman of Biloxi, Mississippi died on July 3, 2018 in Gulfport. His wife Georgiana survives him, along with 3 children and 6 grandchildren. His late father, Allen P. Stillman, was a member of Dartmouth's class of 1920.

Dave was an active chubbier at Dartmouth, involved in the Outing Club and Cabin and Trail. A History major, he served on the Winter Carnival committee and sang in the Glee Club.

Following graduation, Dave served for 2 years as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army, then attended the Episcopal seminary in Alexandria, Virginia for a year and was a junior high school teacher. He spent the bulk of his working life as a retail furniture store manager.

In an autobiographical statement in his 50th reunion yearbook he commented that "It took me 60 years to figure out what I should be. I should be retired!" Dave loved retirement, especially tending his flower gardens and traveling with Georgiana.
