

OBITUARY KENDALL S. WAY

Kendall Sherman Way, psychologist, educator, businessman and outdoorsman, died on January 12, 2013 in Ridgefield, Connecticut. He is survived by his wife Nancy, four children and two grandchildren.

Ken came to Dartmouth from Browne and Nichols School and following 13 months in the U.S. Navy. He majored in psychology and received both AB and AM degrees. He was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. His father, B. Kendall Way, was a 1923 Dartmouth graduate.

Following two years with the Central Intelligence Agency in Korea, for which he was awarded the Medal of Freedom, Ken began a 36-year career as a salesman and New England manager for Rogers Publishing Company. Concurrently, from 1964 to 1991, he was a dean at the newly-established Berkshire Community College in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. He obtained a Doctor of Education degree from the University of Massachusetts in 1981.

He was an avid golfer and skier, serving as a member of the National Ski Patrol. He served Dartmouth as a club secretary for many years.
