Jack Cogswell takes a bow

Photos by Betty Brady

Jack and Pat Cogswell were honored by the town of Needham, Mass., as Jack stepped down after 12 years on the board of selectmen. He said it was time for younger folks to tackle the rising personnel and fuel costs that he's helped grapple with during his long service. Jack produced a regular local TV show on town government doings. The town manager said of Jack, 'There is no other person in the town who has done as much to educate the public about public works.' A Needham resident for 50 years, Jack remains on several town committees and boards. Separately, he founded an organization that provides health care for low-income residents, and has served as an officer or director of 10 different health-care groups, including the Massachusetts Hospital Association. A pride of '55!

Homecoming & '55 Mini October 17-18

Friday, October 17

2-3:45 p.m., Hood Museum Auditorium: For a number of years we have donated, through our class dues solicitation, to the Hood Museum's acquisition fund. On Friday afternoon the Hood's director, Brian Kennedy, and Bonnie MacAdam, who is the James L. Cohen Curator of American Art, will introduce us to the Hood's collections with special attention to works acquired with our donations. A walking tour follows. It's a double-header at the Hood, for at . . .

4-5 p.m., Hood Museum Auditorium: Jerry Daniell will tell us about one of Dartmouth's most distinguished early alums, Samuel P. Chase 1823, a New Hampshire native who became Ohio governor and U.S. Senator, challenged Lincoln for the 1860 Republican nomination, then became his Treasury Secretary and later the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

5:30 p.m., class dinner at the Hanover Inn (cash bar)

7:30 p.m., Dartmouth Night on the Green: bonfire!

Saturday, October 18

8 a.m., Hanover Inn, class breakfast and Executive Committee meeting (all are welcome); hear and see Ralph Sautter's always-balanced financial report

10-11 a.m., Alumni Hall, Hopkins Center: alumni lecture, Prof. Peter Saccio, "Hamlet Went to College"

12:30 p.m., Dartmouth v. Holy Cross

6 p.m., Fireside Inn, West Lebanon, class dinner (cash bar)
