

David Thomas Hugo

January 16, 2013

David T. Hugo matriculated from Wakefield High School in Wakefield, MA. In high school, he was a three-year member of the student council and participated in the Yearbook, Dramatics, Baseball, and Hockey. He majored in English at Dartmouth, was a member of Chi Phi and the Newman Club and participated in DOC his freshman year.

In our 50th reunion book, David wrote the following:

"In September 1957 I was fortunate to be assigned a triple, formerly a double, on the fourth floor of Topliff. I met my first roommate, Paul Fee, who said I talked funny," I felt the same about his speech. He was from Chicago, flat Midwestern accent.

This was my introduction to diversity, which was one of the best things learned at Dartmouth. The walnut shell of high school and small town was not the whole world.

After college there was work for McGraw-Hill, then I opened the Bunch of Grapes Bookstore on Martha's Vineyard. which was a satisfying venture.

Along the way came marriage and three children, one a Dartmouth Graduate (Alec '87).

Good memories are playing on the hockey team and hearing Robert Frost speak several times, I don't believe it is 50!"

He noted that his favorite activities at Dartmouth were Varsity Hockey and Chi Phi.
