

Richard Edgar Baum

Died: November, 1997

Richard's wife in March, 2000, wrote a brief note to the college to say that Richard had died in November, 1997, of a brain tumor. He would have been 58 years old on November 30th that year. He was living on West End Avenue in New York City in 1986 and in 1996, according to 25th and 35th reunion publications in those years.

Richard grew up in Yonkers and went to Horace Mann High School where he played football, was on the track team, and wrestled. He is not listed in The Aegis, nor has any other information about him been made available.
