

Dexter Thomas Caley

Died: May 7, 1966

Tom died a little less than five years after we graduated, killed in an automobile accident at the age of 26 in Powers, Michigan on Saturday, May 7, 1966.

He had served in the Navy for four years following Dartmouth, and married. He and his wife had a daughter Kirsten. At the time of his death he was on summer vacation from the graduate school of business at the University of Michigan.

Tom came to Dartmouth from Menominee, Michigan, where he went to high school, played football and tennis, and was in dramatics. At Dartmouth he majored in economics and was a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa.