

Wayne Louis Christian

Died: October 24, 1988

Wayne died at the age of 49 on Monday, October 24, 1988.

Wayne was a Texan, who grew up and went to high school in Dallas, graduating cum laude. He also played in the orchestra and band.

At Dartmouth, Wayne was known — by Tom Conger, among others, who remembers him — for his north Texas twang, for being a nice guy, and for his solitary ways. He graduated with the class and went to Tuck Business School. Little is reported about Wayne in The Aegis, no mention is made in the reunion publications of 1986, 1996, and 2001, and no information about him otherwise has been made available.
