Charles came to Dartmouth from Lincoln High School, Portland, Oregon, where he was class treasurer and a member of the National Honor Society.

After graduating from Dartmouth, he was accepted at Harvard and Stanford medical schools. He said he chose Stanford over Harvard, because in traveling between Dartmouth and Portland, where he grew up and his family lived, if the airlines lost his luggage one more time we was never going east again. To my knowledge he never did, graduating from Stanford Medical School before finishing his medical career as a radiologist at Truckee Hospital, living in Squaw Valley, California, where he was an avid skier, hiker, and board sailor with a very active interest in conservation and environmental protection.
