

Michael Walker Herriott
(7/18/1942-4/21/1965)

Michael Walker Herriott, an All-American lacrosse player and captain of the team his senior year, died in an airplane crash on April 21, 1965. He was an outstanding team leader and was well liked by his classmates.

Mike came to Dartmouth from Baltimore Friends School where he played football, baseball and lacrosse. He graduated cum laude. Mike played freshman lacrosse and participated in WDCR his first year here. He was third-team All-American his junior year and All-American last year. He was a two-time member of the All-Ivy and All-New England teams. He received the Alumni Lacrosse Award for his outstanding contribution to Dartmouth lacrosse.

Mike was active in other Dartmouth activities; he was a member of Bones Gate fraternity and Dragon Senior Society. He was a math major and received a citation in that subject and in Music 1.

Mike was attending Cornell graduate school specializing in statistics, and was helping in Cornell's lacrosse program. The fatal plane crash had occurred during a scouting trip to the Harvard-Brown game.

Mike is survived by his parents and a brother, Jon '59, to whom the sympathy of the Class is offered.
