

Paul Alan Kolodny
2/13/1944-9/14/1969
from the Dartmouth Alumni Magazine

Paul Alan Kolodny died September 14, 1969 after a long illness.

Paul came to Dartmouth from Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn. He was a member of the I.D.C. and the U.G.C. and served on the staff of the "Dartmouth". After graduation, Paul took an M.A. at Brooklyn College and completed course work for the Ph.D. at New York University.

He had served in the School of General Studies at Brooklyn College since 1965 and had been a lecturer in English in the SEEK program since September 1967. In May, 1968, Paul was awarded a Fulbright teaching grant to Germany. He had been a member of the executive board and negotiating committee of the United Federation of College Teachers.

The Class sends its deepest condolences to Paul's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Kolodny.
