We're grateful for the efforts of both, Artistic Director, Jia Kim, and the CMS Advisory Committee: Walter Frame, Robi Hodge, Heide Horsley, Nancy Jeffries-Dwyer, Patti Martin, Christopher & Laura Ott, Bill Pope, Sidney Stark, and Jill Witten. Thanks to their dedication, guidance, and support, we are able to bring inspiring programs and world-class musicians to Stowe. We look forward to more incredible programming this season and beyond!

A LETTER FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR:

As Artistic Director I bring together musicians of the highest caliber to share their passion and talents with you. We're hard at work finalizing plans for Season 4 and need your support to make it happen! Please, join me in ensuring the enduring availability of this style of classical music performance!

Cultivating musicians and appreciation of the art is a core part of each residency. Chamber Music Society outreach includes offering free programs to area schools to expose students to chamber music through school assemblies, music-class workshops, and orchestra/band ensemble visits.

Audiences have a chance to connect through intimate chamber music performances on the Spruce Peak Arts theater's stage, offering a one-of-a-kind classical music experience in Stowe! Through careful planning and programming, we ensure that the amazing talents who perform here provide wonderful experiences for us and our region, often for people who wouldn't otherwise have the opportunity to enjoy such music.

We've set the dates and themes for Season 4, more details will come soon. Please, mark your calendar and plan to join us at each of our three residencies!

With gratitude,
Jia Kim, Artistic Director
