

1977 CLASS NOTES

January-February 2006

There is a saying that 'no news is good news. News from Hanover and classmates is coming in slow, but I know that the Class of 1977 is doing great things!

Amy Chohnoky received the Dartmouth Alumni Award at the 190th meeting of the Alumni Council in Hanover on May 20, 2005. Amy was very involved as an undergrad in activities, which included the Handel Society, freshman lacrosse, intramural tennis, Green Key, The Dartmouth and Fire and Skoal Senior Society. After graduation, Amy has served on the reunion giving committee and as a newsletter editor, class agent, leadership agent, vice president and president. Her contributions on the Alumni Council and to the College did not go unnoticed.

Evy Chan lives in Paris, France. She is co-president of the Dartmouth Club of France. Mark Moss is living in Key West with his wife Wendi. In addition to being a volunteer for Habitat for Humanity, Marks also referees high school soccer. When I lived in New Jersey, I refereed high school soccer but now only have time to officiate college football. Occasionally I assist younger football officials by working in the Washington, DC public school system.

James Washington used to officiate high school and college basketball when he lived in Alaska, but has since hung up his whistle.

I did not make it up to Hanover for Homecoming weekend in October, but do plan to travel back to Dartmouth in March for Club Officers Weekend.

Hope everyone had a joyous Holiday season.
