Chiu Wins Young Alumni Award

Belinda Chiu '98, president-elect of the Dartmouth Club of the Piedmont, has been named one of just two 2009-2010 winners of the Dartmouth Young Alumni Distinguished Service Award, given to alums less than 25 years out. Her citation reads in part:

"Just 11 years out, Belinda's logged many volunteer miles for Dartmouth as a district enrollment director and enrollment interviewer. She's been an Alumni Council representative, serving on the council's Executive Committee, Young Alumni Committee, and other committees, and she's been co-chair of the Dartmouth Asian Pacific American Alumni Association. She lives in Durham, NC...

Replogle To Speak At Annual Dinner

John Replogle '88, of Raleigh, CEO of Burt's Bees, and a candidate for an alumni seat on the Dartmouth College Board of Trustees, will speak at the annual dinner of the Dartmouth Club of the Piedmont on Saturday, March 20 at Elon University.

The dinner will begin with a reception at 6 p.m. in the Center for the Arts..

Under Replogle's leadership, Burt's Bees has become the leading natural personal care company in the United States. Burt's Bees has expanded globally and doubled sales and profitability while becoming a recognized leader in sustainable business practices.

He was nominated by the Alumni Council for one of two open seats on the Board of Trustees. The voting period will be from March 10 to April 7. (For more information on the election of trustees and the leadership of the Association of Alumni, go to www.voxthevote.org/index.php)

John was previously GM of Unilever skin care as well as president of Guinness Brewing in the United States and the United Kingdom. Replogle started his career with The Boston Consulting Group and earned an MBA with distinction from the Harvard Business School.

John graduated from Dartmouth in 1988 with an AB in government and has served the College continuously for 25 years. As an undergraduate, he served on his class council and Student Assembly. Since graduation, John has volunteered as class vice president, treasurer, and mini-reunion chair, and currently serves as co-head agent.

John serves on the boards of Terracycle, the Ravenscroft School, and Habitat for Humanity in Durham. He lives in Raleigh, with his wife and four daughters. He is the son of David '53 and brother to Bill '77.

The cost of the dinner will be $20 for the classes of 2000 and younger, $25 for all others. To make a reservation, use the website and pay by PayPal, or send your check to Allison Mangin, our treasurer, at 3805 Glenrock Circle, Raleigh NC, 27613.

To get to Elon, take I-40/85 to the University Drive exit. Go to the first traffic light and turn right.. Follow that street for a few miles, until you cross the railroad tracks. Continue beyond the second light, which is Haggard Ave. The Center for the Arts is about a half block more on the right..

All Dartmouth alumni have favorite anecdotes about fun with pals in their student days. Can you share an anecdote from your volunteer days?

Club and Affiliated Group Officers Weekend 2008 ... A bunch of '98s and a '97 ... We'd all been active student leaders who'd worked closely together, and now here we were, back together. Other than being a bit older and more wrinkly and the 10-year-old boy playing video games in the corner it was like time hadn't passed. We're still causing trouble. You know who you are ... EBAs, anyone?

Dartmouth On Location With Professor Benson

Professor Melanie Benson, the latest addition to Dartmouth's outstanding Native American Studies Department, keynoted the Club's fourth Alumni Seminar (a/k/a Dartmouth on Location event), held this time in conjunction with the 14th Annual American Indian Heritage Celebration on Nov. 21st at the North Carolina Museum of History in Raleigh.

Melanie Benson
Assistant Professor of English and Native
American Studies
She is a Herring
Pond Wampanoag
from Cape Cod

Speaking on the topic "The Problem of the Native South (and a Solution or Two)," Benson, a Herring Pond Wampanoag from Cape Cod, gave a talk drawing deeply on southern literature and laced with vivid imagery to stress the need for modern Native Americans to forge new futures out of the best of their past and the strengths of their present.

Our second speaker, Professor Malinda Maynor Lowery of UNC-Chapel Hill, speaking on "The Lumbee Experience and Recognition Issue," gave a logical and persuasive explanation of the formation and development of North Carolina's Lumbee Tribe (with 54,000 members, the largest east of the Mississippi) and its ongoing effort to obtain federal recognition.

Late in the afternoon a panel that included Catherine Hutasuhut '99, Steve Lowery '05 and Heather Mc-Millan Nakai '02 engaged with the audience in a lively and wide ranging discussion of current issues in the Native American community, with emphasis on education and how college students and graduates can contribute to their tribes back home. Especially interesting were stories by the three alums about their experiences at Dartmouth, difficult at first but in the end cementing a deep loyalty to the College. In between all this everyone enjoyed the activities of the overall Heritage Celebration - dance, cuisine, arts, crafts, medicines, storytelling and films.

Included in audience of some 35 or 40 were alums Tom Andrews '60, Betsy Booth Scalco '88, Mark Brooks '07, Zach Chen '89, Bob Conn '61 and Craig Hancock, Kathy Dubishar '88 (from Northern Virginia), Kelly Daughtry '92, Sara Kate Fishback '02, David Hough '67, Todd Hemphill '78, Steve Lough '88, Kim Pelak '05, Nancy Sharpless '81, Rick Sharpless '79 and Andrew Weiss '67, along with spouses April Chen, Nancy Hemphill, Darreth Kavanagh, and Mark Scalco, and also parents, children, partners, fiancées and dates. A number of invited representatives of local Native American tribes, groups and academic departments also were present. The consensus was that the event was a great success, with fun and learning for all.

New Dartmouth Entrepreneurial Network - North Carolina

First Meeting a Success!

Dartmouth and Tuck alumni traveled from Charlotte, the Triad and Raleigh to Elon University for the successful launch of the Dartmouth Entrepreneurial Network - North Carolina (DEN-NC). It is the ninth chapter of a nationwide network.

Mary Gowan, dean of Elon's Love School of Business, and Gregg Fairbrothers D'75, founding director of DEN and adjunct professor of Business Administration at Tuck, spoke.

Jason Copland T'01, President of Copland Industries, gave an inspiring and insightful talk about the courage of being entrepreneurial at a fourth-generation family company. The alumni retreated to the Piedmont Ale House where ideas, business cards, and contacts were shared with enthusiasm and great interest.

The purpose of DEN-NC is to foster a spirit of innovation by helping people in the Dartmouth community learn about and implement entrepreneurship. Future events will include speakers, workshops, business plan competitions, and opportunities to network locally, regionally, and nationally with Hanover and the other eight DEN chapters.

Whether you are starting a business, running one, or working in one and have an interest in entrepreneurship, please join the listserv. For more information or to join the group, please contact: belinda.chiu@gmail.com.

Speed Networking with Rex Morey '99

Networking accounts for 69 percent of new hires, so come expand your network and practice your networking skills!

Rex Morey '99, MBA candidate at the Fuqua School of Business and former Associate Director of Alumni Relations, will kick off Dartmouth Entrepreneurial Network-NC's "Speed Networking" session with a brief talk about the importance of networking and the personal and professional "elevator pitch" to make a good first impression.

Speed Networking is a structured fun and effective way to maximize and build your business relationships and social capital with professionals in and outside your industry.

DEN-NC at Burt's Bees

April 21, 2010, Noon

Save the Date! John Replogle '88, President & CEO of Burt's Bees will host a Dartmouth Entrepreneurial Network-NC event at Burt's Bees Headquarters in Durham.

In addition to being a nominee for Dartmouth's Board of Trustees, he has led the growth of one of the leading natural personal care product companies in the world. John will address Burt's Bees mission to work for the "Greater Good," commitment to raising consciousness about sustainability, and the Triple Bottom Line.

Details to come.

Polanco '11 Named DCP Scholarship Winner

Robert Polanco '11 of Durham is the latest winner of the Dartmouth Club of the Piedmont Scholarship. Robert is a sociology major and one of five PAL (peer academic link) participants in his department, for advising potential majors.

In his PAL listing, he said. "I was highly engaged in sociology through Prof. (John L.) Campbell. The theoretical concepts, framing, and logic of the field appealed to me. The fact that sociology delves into social inequalities, as well as political and economic institutions caused me to fall in love with it. I felt that learning how to perform quantitative studies was important to my academic progress. Sociology helps me put a framework around other fields of study such as anthro and history."

He wrote Campbell is his favorite professor "without a doubt... He is a charismatic, funny and a down to earth professor who can lecture you out of a room (in the best of ways)."

Robert is heavily involved in the Latino community at Dartmouth, serving first as secretary and now as vice president of M.E.Ch.A. (Movimiento

Recent Dartmouth Club Activities

Annual Picnic

Twenty-three members of the Dartmouth Family attended the annual picnic on May 16 at the Chapel Hill home of Dick '56 and Georgia Whitney. In addition to alums from the past six decades, we welcomed two of our newest members, recently accepted Colin Burks and Kate Nelson, class of 2013. It was a wonderful afternoon of good food and good conversation. Thank you to our gracious hosts, the Whitneys.

Alums Not Deterred by a Little Rain

Dartmouth alumni from three classes gathered near Falls Lake on Saturday, Oct. 24th, to celebrate the 100th Anniversary of the DOC locally. Joining more than 40 other volunteers, the crew hiked about two miles into the woods with trail rakes and mattocks and broke trail on a new section of the N.C. Mountains-to-Sea Trail.

The trail meandered by wheat fields and into thick brush that was no match for loppers and a little Dartmouth granite muscle. By day's end, more than a mile of trail had been broken (and many Chick-fil-A breakfast sandwiches eaten).

The Friends of the Mountains-to-Sea Trail (FMST) group was friendly and ran an impressive operation. If you'd like to find out more about the trail or spend a day doing trail work visit www.ncmst.org for more information.

Interviewing Workshop

A small group of enthusiastic volunteer alumni interviewers met on Sunday, Nov. 8 at the office of Todd Hemphill '78 in Raleigh for an Interviewer Workshop. The admissions process, tips for interviewing and evaluation write-ups, and college updates were discussed.

Alumni interviews are important to the admissions process. Often, this is the only opportunity an applicant has to interact with a Dartmouth representative. Our goal is to interview 100 percent of our candidates from the Piedmont area, both the Triangle and Triad. The deadline for interview reports in Feb. 19.

Keep in mind that an online system is used that requires your alum account to be activated. If you do not regularly use your alum account, please have your alum account forward to your regular email.

If you would like some tips, sample questions and evaluations, please go to: www.dartmouth.edu/~interviewers/interviewing/.

Dues are Due Now

Dues for 2010 are $25 for alums in the class of 1999 and earlier; $15 for 2000-09 and for parents of current students. The club year follows the calendar year.

Please make checks payable to the Dartmouth Club of the Piedmont and send to our treasurer, Allison Mangin at 3805 Glenrock Circle, Raleigh NC 27613. Or pay club dues via PayPal at our website (www.dartmouth.org/clubs/dcnpcied). See enclosed invoice.

27 Attend Triad Holiday Dinner

For countless centuries, Holidays generated considerable mirth, both genuine and false. Many of us have dutifully stretched smiles across our faces to meet Holiday expectations and demands.

On the other hand, over the last five years at our Dartmouth Holiday Dinners in the Triad, the warmth and cheer generated by our Big Green family and friends resulted in enormous, spontaneous grins and laughter. Our mirth harbored no mendacity and no smile stretches, we actually enjoyed each other immeasurably.

This year on Dec. 17, our joyous group of Dartmouth family members included Thomas J. Andrews ('60); Steve ('64) and Carol Bachman; Robert "Treb" Becher (M '06); Kelly ('00) and Mark Cavanaugh; John ('78) and Jan Davis; Kimberly Davis ('11); Steve (Tuck '67) and Gail Dula; Thomas ('56) and Sandra Harper; David Hough ('67) and Tamara Michael; Stephen Lough ('87); Harrison Marks ('73); Michael ('65) and Marian McKelvy; Robert ('78) and Rob Price; Ted ('63) and Nancy Rossi; David ('67) and Carol Sclove; Richard ('56) and Georgia Whitney.

Fans Cheer Green in NCAA Regional

Dartmouth baseball's first NCAA tournament appearance in 22 years drew upwards of 125 Big Green fans on Friday and upwards of 100 on Saturday, making their presence felt both days and out numbering opponent Kansas's fans on Saturday.

The Green gave UNC its toughest game of the weekend, before falling 5-2 to the ultimate regional champions. The team combined solid defense, pitching and hitting to hold the Tar Heels to far fewer runs than either other opponent and to a winning margin 6 runs fewer than the next closest UNC opponent.

Unfortunately the team shot its wad in the first game, and fell 16-0 to Kansas in the second game. However the Green showed it can excel at its own level of competition, and play effectively against best in the nation. The team is entitled to celebrate a very successful season

Next Dartmouth on Location

We are in the planning stages for a Dartmouth on Location Shakespeare Festival in fall 2010 in Staunton Virginia at the Blackfriars Playhouse. We're planning this with the Dartmouth Club of Central Virginia and are currently in the process of selecting a fall weekend and arranging tickets and lodging.
